

CreditCards.com Recognized for Outstanding Corporate Growth

Company Receives Award From Association for Corporate Growth - Central Texas

AUSTIN, Texas--(BUSINESS WIRE)--CreditCards.com was selected today to receive the Outstanding Corporate Growth and Emerging Company award from the Central Texas Chapter of the Association for Corporate Growth (ACG). The company received the award for businesses with annual revenues in 2006 between $25 million and $100 million.

The prestigious award recognizes excellence in sustained corporate growth and financial performance. CreditCards.com, which enables consumers to search, compare and apply for cards online, has experienced over a ten-fold growth in revenue since its startup in 2003.

The company, headquartered in Austin, Texas, was originally founded by Austin-based entrepreneur and University of Texas alumnus Dan Smith. "CreditCards.com is an exceptional company due to the hard work and commitment of our outstanding team of employees, some of whom joined us during the company's humble beginnings in my 'garoffice,'" said Smith. "Working as a team, our mission has been to enable and empower consumers to make wise credit choices - using information and tools that make it easy to compare offers side by side. We give thanks for the success we've been granted so far and look forward to being of service to consumers going forward."

Elisabeth DeMarse, president and CEO of Creditcards.com, said, "We are honored with this recognition of our past achievements and we are extremely excited about our plans for the future. CreditCards.com is truly committed to delivering value to consumers, to credit card issuers and to business partners. We have a strong team that is aggressively building on Dan's original vision to continue to achieve outstanding results, to perpetually delight our customers and to create a world-class company. We look forward to many more years of outstanding growth."

DeMarse added, "There is enormous potential for Americans to take stock of their own personal finance habits and presumptions and transform their credit cards into a powerful tool and ally. We are positioned to help consumers do this by leveraging the power of the Internet."
